Question 4

Read the passage given below and answer the questions (a), (b) and (c) that follow:

- (1) At the Literary Society's meeting, Isola read out the letters written to her Granny Pheen, when she was but a little girl. They were from a very kind man – a complete stranger. Isola told us how these letters came to be written.
- (2) When Granny Pheen was nine years old, her cat died. Heartbroken, sitting in the middle of the road, she was sobbing her heart out. 5
- (3) A carriage, driving far too fast, came within a whisker of running her down. A very big man in a dark coat with a fur collar, jumped out, leaned over Pheen, and asked if he could help her. Granny Pheen said she was beyond help. Muffin, her cat, was dead.
- (4) The man said, 'Of course, Muffin's not dead. You do know cats have nine lives, don't you?' When Pheen said yes, the man said, 'Well, I happen to know your Muffin was only on her third life, so she has six lives left.' Pheen asked how he knew. He said he always knew - cats would often appear in his mind and chat with him. Well, not in words, of course, but in pictures. 10
- (5) He sat down on the road beside her and told her to keep still – very still. He would see if Muffin wanted to visit him. They sat in silence for several minutes, when suddenly the man grabbed Pheen's hand. 15
- (6) 'Ah – yes! There she is! She's being born this minute! In a mansion – in France. There's a little boy petting her, he's going to call her Solange. This Solange has great spirit, great verve – I can tell already! She is going to have a long, venturesome life.' 20
- (7) Granny Pheen was so rapt by Muffin's new fate that she stopped crying. The man said he would visit Solange every so often and find out how she was faring.
- (8) He asked for Granny Pheen's name and the name of the farm where she lived, got back into the carriage, and left. 25
- (9) Absurd as all this sounds, Granny Pheen did receive eight long letters. Isola then read them out. They were all about Muffin's life as the French cat – Solange. She was, apparently, something of a feline musketeer. She was no idle cat, lolling about on cushions, lapping up cream – she lived through one wild adventure after another – the only cat ever to be awarded the red rosette of the Legion of Honour. 30
- (10) What a story this man had made up for Pheen – lively, witty, full of drama and suspense. We were enchanted, speechless at the reading. When it was over (and much applauded), I asked Isola if I could see the letters, and she handed them to me.

(11) The writer had signed his letters with a grand flourish: 35

VERY TRULY YOURS,
O.F. O'F. W.W.

It was highly possible that Isola had inherited eight letters written by Oscar Wilde, for who else could have had such a preposterous name as Oscar Fingal O'Flahertie Willis Wilde.
